

Ali Al-Saffar

---

Ali Al-Saffar is an energy analyst in the Directorate of Sustainability, Technology and Outlooks at the International Energy Agency in Paris, and an author of six editions of the IEA's long-term forecast, the World Energy Outlook. He is the lead author of the Southeast Asia Energy Outlook, which will be released by the IEA in October 2017.

Prior to joining the IEA in 2012, he was a country economist and chief automotive analyst at the Economist Intelligence Unit in London. He has degrees in economics and development studies.

